

WHY I WILL NEVER LEAVE FARIDABAD

The city has given him an identity

Dr Anil Jindal

I was born in 1964 at Firozpur Kalan village, Faridabad district. I was brought up in a typical middle class atmosphere with social values. I have been able to pursue and achieve most of my dreams in Faridabad city.

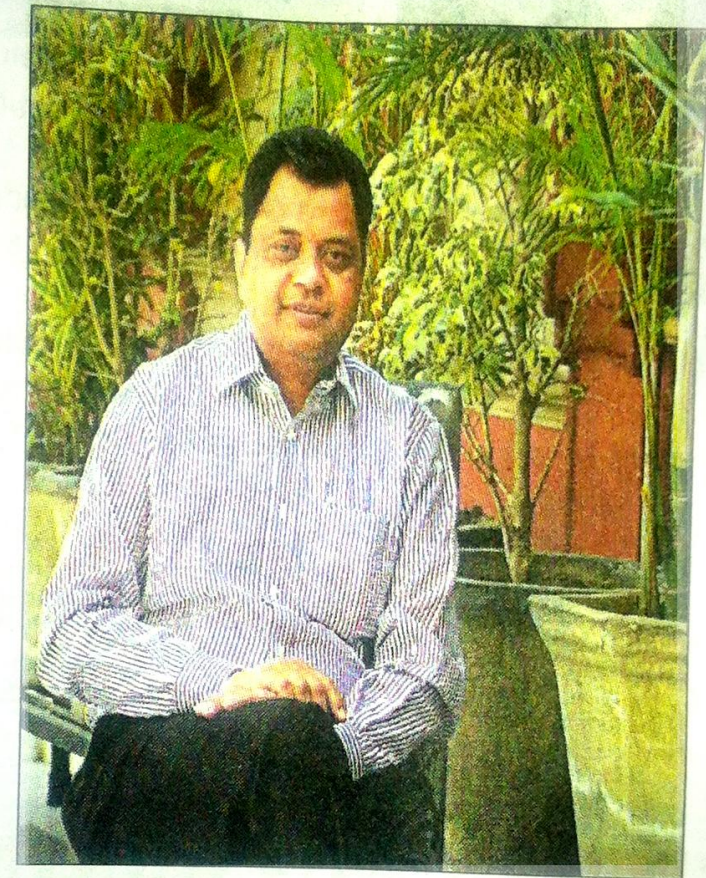

Faridabad has undergone a tremendous makeover, right in front of my eyes over the last couple of decades. I must say that the change has been for good. The city has evolved from being just an industrial town to a vibrant city with all the modern facilities and infrastructure.

The city has the best of educational institutions, medical facilities, industrial units, business houses, shopping and entertainment hubs including the best of malls, retail outlets and multiplexes.

Faridabad is perhaps the fastest growing city at the moment in terms of investment, business and employment opportunities among all the cities in the NCR.

With the coming up of several flyovers and other key development projects including the widening of NH-2, the proposed 135 km Kundli-Manesar-Palwal Expressway, construction of the four-lane Kalindi Kunj bridge and extension of the Metro link from Badarpur to YMCA Chowk in the city, the potential of Faridabad has grown exponentially.

There is no dearth of people migrating to the city because of the real estate prices. Close proximity to the national capital and other key cities in NCR such as Gurgaon, Noida and Ghaziabad further add to the city's charm.

FARIDABAD IS PERHAPS THE FASTEST GROWING CITY IN NCR IN TERMS OF EMPLOYMENT INVESTMENT AND BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES.

The people in Faridabad have a great temperament and are congenial towards newcomers because of the fine balance of both traditional and contemporary values.

I have made some great friends over the years and keep meeting new and interesting people with a zeal for life and great love for Faridabad each and every day and it sure makes me proud of my city.

Faridabad offers everything that one expects in a city. Tranquility in personal life and a plethora of opportunities in business are just the icing on the cake.

This city has not only given me an identity but also enabled me to reach out to the whole of north India and beyond. Needless to say, I would like to enjoy living here forever and try my best to add to its glory.
